

SOUND SCULPTURES & Giant Percussion Workshops with Ben Gates

School Workshop Information

The Workshop sessions can be divided into two sections:

Playing and Conducting Music - Students can freely explore and experiment with these large and unusual looking turned percussion instruments and depending on age and ability be guided into using fun conducting techniques to control the ensemble.

Constructing Sound Sculptures - With a variety of specially designed components sub divided groups can work together to create their own giant sound instruments. Again depending on age and ability students are guided towards a small impromptu performance to end the session.

Both parts of the workshop can be completed in 50 minutes with 10 minutes to reset the room for the next session

Ideal group size: 10 - 20 students per session (30 students max)

Ideal Room: School hall or outside play area.
